

Security and logistics

Bridgeporth is the only company in the non-seismic industry to provide in-house security and logistics capabilities using highly experienced, tier-1, full-time staff.

Our team specialises in managing political, reputational, operational, and security risks in complex and hostile environments globally.

The Bridgeporth team has undertaken safe and successful security programmes in many of the world's austere environments, from the Middle East to East Africa.

Fulfilled as a stand-alone or joint operating programme using trained and authorised local forces, Bridgeporth has the flexibility to enable safe, economic operation in the frontier exploration markets of the world.

Mitigating security risks

Securing your company from operational risks is a first priority for any management team. Losses of life, intellectual property, physical assets, and reputation can have a devastating impact on your business. Bridgeporth provides strategic consultancy, expert analysis, bureaucratic navigation, and on-the-ground protection and support to help prevent issues before they occur.

Local solutions, global reach

We support our clients by providing technical knowledge, country expertise, strategic consultancy, expert analysis, and in-depth assessments.

From strategic advice to practical, on-the-ground services, we provide integrated security and logistics solutions globally to meet all our clients' risk management challenges.

How it works: logistics

Bridgeporth has wholly owned Kenyan flagged aircraft, with access to a global fleet. Our permanent presence in Kenya, now with an expanded Aircraft Operating Division and maintenance facility, provides a centrally-located base to access the rest of the African continent.

Our operators are practiced expatriates with extensive experience in Africa. Our long-term presence has enabled programme managers to develop close ties with the key government stakeholders and a network of service providers. Bridgeporth has construction and trucking partners for rapid base camp and hangar establishment.

How it works: security

Bridgeporth coordinates the security you will need to successfully attain your project objectives, liaising on your behalf with local and national security forces.

Bridgeporth has the capacity to create, manage, and maintain appropriate security plans tailored to your needs. Throughout the life of your project, Bridgeporth will collect, analyse, and disseminate security risk-related information and data to crews operating on the ground and client management.

Our team

Bridgeporth is the only company in the industry to provide in-house security using experienced, tier-1, full-time staff.

Bridgeporth also maintains a full-time team of geopolitical risk analysts who monitor and track operating environments globally.

Manage risk: maximize opportunity

At the end of the day, operating in developing countries, particularly those with volatile, post-conflict environments, requires preparation, accurate intelligence, and a comprehensive risk mitigation strategy.

And Bridgeporth is the only non-seismic company in the industry that has an in-house security and logistics branch. Provide a degree of certainty and security to your project by choosing us as your partners on the ground and in the field. We'll help you manage your risks to maximise your opportunities.
